Open Journal Systems

"Scholars need the means to launch a new generation of journals committed to open access, and to help existing journals that elect to make the transition to open access..."
Budapest Open Access Initiative, 2002

Open Journal Systems (OJS) is a journal management and publishing system that has been developed by the Public Knowledge Project through its federally funded efforts to expand and improve access to research.

OJS Features

1. OJS is installed locally and locally controlled.
2. Editors configure requirements, sections, review process, etc.
3. Online submission and management of all content.
4. Subscription module with delayed open access options.
5. Comprehensive indexing of content part of global system.
6. Reading Tools for content, based on field and editors' choice.
7. Email notification and commenting ability for readers.
8. Complete context-sensitive online Help support.

OJS assists with every stage of the refereed publishing process, from submissions through to online publication and indexing. Through its management systems, its finely grained indexing of research, and the context it provides for research, OJS seeks to improve both the scholarly and public quality of refereed research.

MacEwan Open Journals

MacEwan Open Journals is a platform for hosting journals published by members of the MacEwan University community. Journals hosted on MacEwan Open Journals are peer-reviewed and fully open access.

If you have a question about a particular journal, please contact the appropriate member of the publishing team, found in the 'About' page of the journal. For general inquiries, please contact Robyn Hall, Scholarly Communications Librarian.

MacEwan University Student eJournal

MUSE publishes select works of MacEwan University students that have passed a rigorous peer-review process. Published works are exceptional examples of student engagement with MacEwan's program goals and learning outcomes.

Earth Common Journal

Earth Common Journal (ECJ) is an international undergraduate peer-reviewed journal that provides a forum where students communicate a diversity of ideas and information on issues concerning conservation, sustainability, and global warming. Earth Common Journal is published by MacEwan University's Bachelor of Communication Studies program. It is published annually in September, with its inaugural issue released in 2011. Earth Common Journal accepts articles from all disciplines, and includes research projects that are empirical, qualitative, creative, and interdisciplinary in content and approach. It also accepts articles from students internationally, to provide global perspectives and discussions on conservation, sustainability, and global warming.

Print ISSN

Online ISSN

The ISSN (International Standard Serial Number) is an eight-digit number which identifies periodical publications as such, including electronic serials. It is managed by a world wide network of National Centres coordinated by an International Centre based in Paris, backed by Unesco and the French Government. A number can be obtained from the ISSN Web Site. This can be done at any point in operating the journal.

DOI Prefix

The DOI (Digital Object Identifier) Prefix is assigned by CrossRef and is in the format 10.xxxx (e.g. 10.1234).

DOI Suffix Use the pattern entered below to generate DOI suffixes. Use %j for journal initials, %v for the volume number, %i for the issue number, %a for the OJS article ID, and %p for the page number.

Asia Pacific and Globalization Review

The Asia Pacific and Globalization Review (APGR) is a peer-reviewed online journal focused on the challenges and opportunities facing multinational companies emerging from the Asia Pacific region. Published by the MacEwan School of Business's Institute for Asia Pacific Studies (IAPS), major topics include international trade, international business practices, marketing practices, market entry strategies, head office location, human resources management, corporate social responsibility, and other relevant political and cultural issues.

The Journal publishes one issue annually in November, with the second issue available at the end of November 2012. Each issue contains three to five articles, including empirical studies (both qualitative and quantitative), case studies, book reviews, commentaries, and policy papers. IAPS is proud to offer open access to the Asia Pacific and Globalization Review.

Journal of Public Health Research

The Journal of Public Health Research is an online Open Access, peer-reviewed scholarly journal in the field of public health science. The aim of the journal is to stimulate debate and dissemination of knowledge in the public health field in order to improve efficacy, effectiveness and efficiency of public health interventions to improve health outcomes of populations. This aim can only be achieved by adopting a global and multidisciplinary approach.

The Journal of Public Health Research publishes contributions from both the "traditional" disciplines of public health, including hygiene, epidemiology, health education, environmental health, occupational health, health policy, hospital management, health economics, law and ethics as well as from the area of new health care fields including social science, communication science, eHealth and mHealth philosophy, health technology assessment, genetics research implications, population-mental health, gender and disparity issues, global and migration-related themes. In support of this approach, the Journal of Public Health Research strongly encourages the use of real multidisciplinary approaches and analyses in the manuscripts submitted to the journal. In addition to Original research, Review and Debate articles, the Journal of Public Health Research publishes newsworthy Case Reports related to

African Journal of Traditional, Complementary and Alternative medicines (AJTCAM)

The African Journal of Traditional, Complementary and Alternative medicines (AJTCAM), a broad-based journal, is founded on two key tenets: To publish exciting research in all areas of applied medicinal plants, Traditional medicines, Complementary Alternative Medicines, food and agricultural technologies, and promotion of healthy use of medicinal products. Secondly, to provide the most rapid turn-around time possible for reviewing and publishing, and to disseminate the articles freely for teaching and reference purposes. All articles published in AJTCAM are peer-reviewed.

AJTCAM is a truly African, global and authoritative journal which publishes papers on issues dealing with Traditional, Complementary and Alternative Medicines. It provides the most rapid turn-around time possible for reviewing and publishing and dissemination of articles for teaching and reference purposes. AJTCAM is indexed and abstracted in: PUBMED/MEDLINE, Science Citation Index-Expanded, Current Contents/Clinical Medicine, and Journal Citation Reports-Science, Free Medical Journals, AJOL, African Index Medicus, Chemical abstracts, Bionline journals International, Directory of Open Access Journals, African Index Medicus, EBSCO, Scopus and HINARI. REGISTER online to access AJTCAM Research Articles, Reviews, Editorials, Conference Reports, News and Search Data Base free online.

Eureka

Eureka is a student-founded and student-run initiative whose mission is to promote the world class undergraduate research done in the faculty of science. This journal offers undergraduate scientists the unique opportunity to share their discoveries with the scientific world, while learning the peer review process. Most undergraduate students do not get to experience the publication process as part of their scientific education. Eureka is an educational institution, with a diverse team of reviewers from many scientific backgrounds. Through clear, effective scientific writing students will be able to work together with faculty members to promote University of Alberta science.

Interested in publishing in Eureka? Please see our submission guidelines for all the pertinent details.

Constellations

Constellations is a student-run, student-written, and student-reviewed undergraduate journal, using a traditional peer-review system common to academic journals. Constellations strives to provide a forum for young historians and classicists to have the experience of writing for an academic journal. In order to maximize the number of opportunities for undergraduate students to have their work published, Constellations is very broad in its scope and will accept papers on any topic that is historical or classical in scope, even from non-history or classics courses. Submissions are accepted from all of the University of Alberta campuses: Main Campus, Augustana and Campus St. Jean, and may be in either French or English.

We are looking for 3XX and 4XX level papers that received a minimum of an A- grade.

Please visit the submission information page to read more about the submission criteria and formatting.

Canadian Journal of Family and Youth

Le Journal Canadien de Famille et de la Jeunesse

Welcome to the website of the Canadian Journal of Family and Youth.

The Canadian Journal of Family and Youth (CJFY), published once a year is a fully refereed interdisciplinary journal. Responding to the diversification of scholarly interests and regional concerns, the journal will be an outlet for Canadian and comparative scholarship on the changing dynamics of the family and the social situation of youth. Relevant papers might come from any discipline including Criminology, Political Science, Economics, Sociology, English, Philosophy, Business or Science. Scholarly debates on family related themes could refer to such topics as community and other social contexts, family dynamics, life course events, domestic violence, dating, marriage, and divorce but also ethnicity, racism, social class, gender, genetics, and ageism. Youth-related themes could include family issues, community, education, paid and volunteer work, youth-directed marketing, sports, delinquency and gangs, and so on. Journal articles, reports, commentaries, poems, and short stories that are presented in accessible language will be welcome, along with book reviews on family and youth. The Editors also strongly encourage the submission of graduate and undergraduate student papers.

Everyone is entitled to their personal opinions. One cannot be defined by what others may say or think, but rather by what he or she may say or do. By definition, we are The Pink Voice together.

The Pink Voice is an online journal published yearly. Welcome to our second edition. Topics include creative writing, found poems, philosophical thoughts, fashion, and a continuous story. Authors of The Pink Voice are all grade nine and ten girls from Gladstone Secondary School, Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada. We'd like to thank Dr. John Willinsky from the University of British Columbia for his generous support.
