What is Ulrichsweb?
Ulrichsweb is an easy to search source of detailed information on more than 300,000 periodicals (also called serials) of all types: academic and scholarly journals, e-journals, peer-reviewed titles, popular magazines, newspapers, newsletters, and more.

What does it include?
Ulrichsweb covers more than 900 subject areas. Ulrich's records provide data points such as ISSN, publisher, language, subject, abstracting & indexing coverage, full-text database coverage, tables of contents, and reviews written by librarians.

What are the linking options?
If your organization has enabled linking options, you can also use Ulrichsweb to explore your library's catalog or other locations where your library subscribes to serials resources.

Who's Afraid of Peer Review?

John Bohannon

A spoof paper concocted by Science reveals little or no scrutiny at many open-access journals.

On 4 July, good news arrived in the inbox of Ocorrafoo Cobange, a biologist at the Wassee Institute of Medicine in Asmara. It was the official letter of acceptance for a paper he had submitted 2 months earlier to the Journal of Natural Pharmaceuticals, describing the anticancer properties of a chemical that Cobange had extracted from a lichen.

In fact, it should have been promptly rejected. Any reviewer with more than a high-school knowledge of chemistry and the ability to understand a basic data plot should have spotted the paper’s shortcomings immediately. Its experiments are so hopelessly flawed that the results are meaningless.

I know because I wrote the paper. Ocorrafoo Cobange does not exist, nor does the Wassee Institute of Medicine. Over the past 10 months, I have submitted 304 versions of the wonder drug paper to open-access journals. More than half of the journals accepted the paper, failing to notice its fatal flaws. Beyond that headline result, the data from this sting operation reveal the contours of an emerging Wild West in academic publishing.

From humble and idealistic beginnings a decade ago, open-access scientific journals have mushroomed into a global industry, driven by author publication fees rather than traditional subscriptions. Most of the players are murky. The identity and location of the journals’ editors, as well as the financial workings of their publishers, are often purposefully obscured. But Science’s investigation cast a spotlight. Internet Protocol (IP) address traces within the raw emails sent by journal editors betray their locations. Invo
LIST OF STANDALONE JOURNALS

Potential, possible, or probable predatory scholarly open-access journals

This is a list of questionable, scholarly open-access journals. We recommend that scholars read the available reviews, assessments and descriptions provided here, and then decide for themselves whether they want to submit articles, serve as editors or on editorial boards. The criteria for determining predatory journals are here.

We hope that tenure and promotion committees can also decide for themselves how importantly or not to rate articles published in these journals in the context of their own institutional standards and/or geo-cultural locus. We emphasize that journals change in their business and editorial practices over time. This list is kept up-to-date to the best extent possible but may not reflect sudden, unreported, or unknown enhancements

Directory of Open Access Journals (DOAJ)

DOAJ is an online directory that indexes and provides access to quality open access, peer-reviewed journals.

There is a new process to have journals indexed in the DOAJ. All journals must apply using our new Application Form. Due to the extensive and detailed information we require, only a journal’s publisher should complete the form.

Latest News

A progress report from DOAJ
Since we opened our new application form on 19th March 2014, 187 new journals have been accepted into the DOAJ. All 187 journals meet the new and extended DOAJ criteria, as required by the new application form. 13 applications have been rejected outright and a further 127 applications are pending further information or clarification from [...] Read More...

MacEwan Open Journals

MacEwan Open Journals is a platform for hosting journals published by members of the MacEwan University community. Journals hosted on MacEwan Open Journals are peer-reviewed and fully open access.

If you have a question about a particular journal, please contact the appropriate member of the publishing team, found in the 'About' page of the journal. For general inquiries, please contact Robyn Hall, Scholarly Communications Librarian.

MacEwan University Student eJournal

MUSe publishes select works of MacEwan University students that have passed a rigorous peer-review process. Published works are exceptional examples of student engagement with MacEwan’s program goals and learning outcomes.

Earth Common Journal

Earth Common Journal (ECJ) is an international undergraduate peer-reviewed journal that provides a forum where students communicate a diversity of ideas and information on issues concerning conservation, sustainability, and global warming. Earth Common Journal is published by MacEwan University’s Bachelor of Communication Studies program. It is published annually in September, with its inaugural issue released in 2011. Earth Common Journal accepts articles from all disciplines, and includes research projects that are empirical, qualitative, creative, and interdisciplinary in content and approach. It also accepts articles from students internationally, to provide global perspectives and discussions on conservation, sustainability, and global warming.

Asia Pacific and Globalization Review

The Asia Pacific and Globalization Review (APGR) is a peer-reviewed online journal focused on the challenges and creative opportunities facing multinational companies emerging from the Asia Pacific region. Published by the MacEwan School of Business’s Institute for Asia Pacific Studies (IAPS), major topics include entry modes, international mergers and acquisitions, accounting and taxation practices, marketing approaches, head office location, human resources management, corporate social responsibility, as well as other relevant political and cultural issues.
Undergraduate Journals

- Agora Papers - Lynchburg College
  The Agora is an online publication of Lynchburg College specializing in undergraduate student responses to the great books of the world. The Agora editor invites undergraduate students who are members of the Association of Core Texts and Courses (ACTC) to submit their work for consideration.

- American Journal of Undergraduate Research
  AJUR is a national, independent, peer reviewed, open-source, just-in-time, multidisciplinary student research journal with a 10-week publication schedule for excellent student articles.

- ANTHROJOURNAL: The Collegiate Journal of Anthropology
  AnthroJournal is an open source journal of outstanding scholarly research papers and reports authored primarily by undergraduate and graduate college students. The content represents the results of extensive research undertaken by students during the course of their education and designed to advance scholarship in anthropology and related fields.

- Apollon: The Undergraduate e-Journal - Berea College
  Apollon’s mission is to publish superior examples of undergraduate humanities research from a variety of disciplines as well as intellectual approaches. Our goal is to engage students in every stage of the process, beginning with student-faculty collaboration in generating undergraduate scholarship and finishing with the release of a polished e-journal. Apollon strives to take advantage of the unique opportunity of venturing into the publishing world...

- Principles of Economics

  Author(s): Timothy Taylor, Macalester College, Steven A. Greenlaw, University of Mary Washington
  Date: Aug 22, 2014
  Description: Published by OpenStax College, Principles of Economics covers the scope and sequence for a two-semester principles of economics course. The text also includes many current examples, including discussions on the great recession, the controversy among economists over the Affordable Care Act (ObamaCare), the recent government shutdown, and the appointment of the United States’ first female Federal Reserve chair, Janet Yellen. The pedagogical choices, chapter arrangements, and learning objectives are tailored for the sophomore-level principles of economics course.

Research Interests: Philosophy of Mind, What Properties Experience Represents, Epistemology, Metaphysics, Disjunctivism, Metaphysics of Mind, and 35 more

About: I finished my D.Phil in philosophy in 2007 at All Souls College, Oxford, where I was a Prize Fellow. My thesis was on the philosophy of perception, and, in particular, on how to draw the line between visible and non-visible properties. The chapters of my thesis are below in the Thesis Chapters section.

Aside from the philosophy of perception, I’m also interested in metaphysics, philosophy of language, epistemology, and ethics. All areas of philosophy interest me.
